FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Council for the Homeless Integrates Services into Central Facility

VANCOUVER, WA (March 28, 2025)—The Clark County nonprofit that specializes in housing people experiencing homelessness and coordinates services among multiple providers is moving into its new home in April. For many years, Council for the Homeless services have operated from multiple facilities. With the recent acquisition of an existing building at 7723 NE Fourth Plain Blvd, Vancouver, WA 98662, CFTH employees will now work from a single facility in the heart of Clark County.

Currently, CFTH is in the process of moving staff and equipment into the new facility. The move is expected to be completed in early April. In the meantime, staff will continue to serve the community by email and phone. The Housing Hotline (360.695.9677) will be open regular hours without interruption.

In-person services will be suspended during the week of March 31. Following completion of the relocation, hours will be posted for the days CFTH is open for the public to stop by the building for questions and services.

“Council for the Homeless is grateful for the opportunity to move all programs, services, and staff into our new space on Fourth Plain Boulevard,” said Charlene Welch, Chief Advancement Officer. “Having one central location, rather than two offices as we did before, will make it easier for people experiencing homelessness and housing instability gain access to services to help them move toward housing stability. Our agency is committed to serving the community and dedicated to the vision that everyone in Clark County can have a safe and stable place to live.”

For administrative needs during the relocation, please call (360) 993-9561.
